DAY NURSERY.
Benevolent Work Carried On in Waterbury Parochial School.

Although St. Mary's parochial school will close with the city schools, says the Waterbury Republican, the children of St. Mary's day nursery, who attend the school, will continue to go to the nursery every morning just after 7 o'clock when their mothers have gone to their employments.

During the school year the children, just after they arrive at the nursery are washed and prepared for school, then noon they go home themselves where dinner is served and they are again prepared for the afternoon session of school. After school in the afternoon the children are given a lunch at the nursery, and there they amuse themselves until their mothers call for them at night. Those who are not ready to go home themselves leave the nursery in time to be at their homes to have the evening meal with the mothers.

The attendance varies usually from forty-five to sixty children a day. None is ever kept at the nursery overnight, unless in case of illness. Two children were retained at the nursery under the care of Sister Ambrosio a short time ago for about a week, because there was a relative coming to their home, and their mother was unable to give the children proper care. If a child is ill and the sister in charge of the institution is unable to give the child the attention which it requires, the child is kept at the nursery.

Although many of the children contribute five cents each day, the expense of maintaining such an institution is necessarily large and it is borne by the immaculate Conception parish. The nursery is kept up chiefly for the children of this parish.

The nursery is open the year round. In the summer time when there is no school, the time is occupied chiefly in playing. There is a small summer house in the yard of the nursery where a sort of kindergarten is held out for the little children, and a few classes are held for the older children. The latter are taught to assist in arranging the tables for dinner, and to help in various little ways about the house, so that they receive practical instruction while making their meals in their own homes. Women of the parish assist in the care and maintenance of the nursery.

Modern motor steam plows are being introduced into India. One of them, made in London, can plow 10 to 25 acres of ordinary ground in a day.

Swallows vs. Pigeons.
A citizen of Antwerp has put to a test the celerity and homing instinct of the swallow as compared with the pigeon. He caught a swallow in his nest under his roof at Antwerp, made a red mark on his feathers and sent the bird with a consignment of 200 carrier pigeons by train to Compiegne, in northern France, a distance of 147 miles.

The birds were released there simultaneously at 7.15 the next morning. The swallow without the slightest hesitation made for the north and disappeared like a flash. The pigeon circled laboriously around before deciding which direction they should take. The swallow reached its nest in Antwerp in 47 minutes, while the pigeons took 4 hours and 7 minutes to cover the distance. In other words, the messenger of spring flew at the rate of nearly 132 miles an hour, while the speed of the pigeons only slightly exceeded 35.2 miles an hour—London Letter.

Two Drops of Water.
It is related of George W. Harvey, the proprietor of the famous restaurant in Washington bearing his name, that he once went to New York to compete with other well known chefs in making a salad dressing. As he watched the others work he realized that nothing could be invented which would improve the dressing made by his competitors. However, when his turn came, he drew from his pocket a small vial, and after performing all the usual duties, through by the judges, he was awarded the prize, and the judges were amazed that two drops of any liquid could make such an improvement. They asked him what it was and he replied, "Water."—Waterbury American.

The Wife and Public Policy.
Wives whose husbands annoy them would better seek relief in the police or divorce courts. Mrs. George Vaughan of Cooper county had her husband arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace. He was found guilty in a justice's court. On appeal to the circuit court, the wife refused to testify, but was compelled by the judge to do so. She said Vaughan had driven her out of bed one night. The circuit
